EXPERIENCE:

Ryan Anderson has litigated a wide range of high-exposure matters in state and federal courts. He has represented nationwide transportation companies against catastrophic trucking/transportation claims, skilled nursing and assisted living facilities against elder abuse claims, corporations operating in the gig economy space, as well as public entities, construction contractors, property owners and individuals in all areas of personal injury claims. His practice includes the defense of individuals and corporate entities in cases involving traumatic brain injuries, spine surgeries, multi-vehicle accidents resulting in catastrophic injuries and death, construction site accidents, premises liability, habitability issues, and claims of sexual abuse of minors.

Mr. Anderson prides himself in his efforts to provide his clients with risk management oversight, not only providing a quality defense throughout litigation, but also providing recommendations to further protect his clients in the future.
